THE RACETRACK.

MESMERIST WON THE GREAT FASTERN.

turf as it now exists in this State, and favorite and carried the highest weight, and in favorite and carried the highest weight, and in favorite and was halled with hearty applause. Ben served and was halled with hearty applause. Ben Holladay was the best horse in the Autumn Cup, and Mesmerist was teh best in the Great Eastern Handicap, and they were triumphant by means of superior merit. Hence the results of those two important battles were satisfactory and gratifying. It is true that the handicapper had been so lenient it beth instances that Ben Holladay and Mesmerist had a great deal to spare and a great deal in hand. Hence there could be no exciting struggle in the final quarter mile in either affair, because it was so evident then that Ben Holladay in the Autumn and Mesmerist in the Great Eastern had their adversaries at their mercy. It is invariably exhilarating, however, to look upon an overwhelming conquest achieved by the best horse in a race, and the public may well rejoice when Ben Holladay and Mesmerist prove so impressively their supremacy over their antagonists. Ben Holladay has now regained his form of a year ago, when he scattered his foes like chaff in the long distance conflicts. Ben Holladay is a noble stayer, and Mesmelst is now the unquestioned champion of the two-year-olds. Both the Autumn and the Great Eastern were traversed in quick time.

Witnesses with good memories who saw the splendid exploits of Ben Holladay and Mesmerist could not fall to recall the distressing fact that Taral rode Ben Holladay earlier in the season, when Ben Holladay was disgracefully heaten by such catile as Knight of the Garter and Thomas Cat, and the same jockey rode Mesmerist when Mesmerist was defeated by Flucky in one race and by Maribert and Gonfalon in another. Those rides were thoroughly discreditable to Taral. They were stupid and bungling rides if they were not worse. It is clearly time for Taral to retire to his roadhouse and to stay there. As a jockey he is a back number, and his usefulness is over. Peter Wimmer told some of his friends on wimmer said to some of his friends on Friday would probably beat Ben Holladay, was last but two.

O'Connor rode Mesmerist well in the Great Eastern, but he handled the favorite. Fluke, in the first race, in a manner which should have caused the recall of his license. O'Connor is one of the worst little rascals on the turf. He is a worthy graduate of W. C. Daiy's school for boys, and has been in trouble repeatedly for foul riding. Those persons who, on the roof of the grandstand, with powerful glasses, watched O'Connor's work on Fluke in the dip in the Futurity Course, could detect his purpose readily.

Certain plungers are doing a great deal of mischief to racing. All the plungers ought to be barred from the tracks. Every plunger is a source of grievous injury to the sport.

Odom's riding of Lady Lindsey in the second race was much below his usual form. Perhaps it was impossible for Lady Lindsey to outrum Toluca, but she could not have lost second place except for Odom's amazing blunders.

Pierre Lorillard has been most unlucky in his purchased David Garrick and The Chamberlain from J. E. Madden for a generous total. Neither has yet won a dollar for him. He bought Maribert for #12,000 at auction. Both Maribert and David Garrick were unplaced in the Great Eastern.

William C. Whitney's stable has encountered a great deal of fill fortune in recent months and has not won many races. Mr. Whitney's investments have been so liberal and extensive that he deserves to capture a long list of rich prizes. It is a cause for regret that Mr. Whitney's investments have been so liberal and extensive that he deserves to capture a long list of rich prizes. It is a cause for regret that Mr. Whitney's investments have been so liberal and extensive that he deserves to capture a long list of rich prizes. It is a cause for regret that Mr. Whitney and Mr. Lorillard are not more successful. Their colors are exceedingly popular.

FINAL BOUTS OF THE LEXINGTON ATH-LETIC CLUB'S AMATEUR TOURNEY.

The final bouts of the Lexington Athletic Club's amateur boxing tournament took place last night at the Lenox Athletic Club before a large gather- LIGHT WIND FOR THE BROOKLYN CLUB ing of spectators. The programme began at 8:30, and plenty of hard fighting, knockouts and slugging was seen. J. Leddy, of the Pastime Athletic Club, defeated B. Cohen, of the Alliance Athletic Club, in an exciting bout.

In the final bout of the 140-pound class J. Mumford, of the New West Side Athletic Club, knocked out J. N. Killoran, of the National Athletic Club, in the first round. A. Dunsheath met J. B. Diamond, of the Union Settlement Athletic Club. The decision went to Dunsheath, who had Diamond's eyes both blackened and his nose bleeding.
J. F. Mumford, who won the 140-pound final bout, was also entered in the 150-pound class. He fought William Rodenback, of the New West Side Athletic Club, in the latter class. Rodenback pounded his opponent as he pleased during three rounds, and at the end of the "go" had Mumford's left eye closed.

In the final round at 110 pounds A. Dunsheath met J. McDonald, of the Union Settlement Athletic Club, in a lively contest. The decision went to Dunsheath.

J. Hopkins, of the Union Settlement Athletic Club, knocked out J. Shaefer, of the St. George Athletic Club, in the first round in the final bout at 130 pounds.

THE COLUMBIA TEAM PRACTISING.

The candidates for the Columbia College football team are hard at work at Margaretville, in the Catskill Mountains, under the direction of Sanford, the coach. At present there are twenty-eight men at the mountain quarters. At least a dozen more will join them before the end of next week. The players rise at 7 a. m., breakfast at 7:30 o'clock and begin their morning practice at 10:30 o'clock. The practice at present consists of passing and failing on the ball. Particular attention is being paid to punting also. The men are drilled at squads in this style of work. Dinner is eaten at 1 p. m., and there is nothing to do until 4:30 p. m., when another hour's practice is taken.

WINNERS-TWO DRAWN GAMES PLAYED.

Local cricketers had a light schedule of games yesterday. The principal game of the day took place at Livingston, Staten Island, where Staten Island added to Newark's already long list of defeats by gaining a victory by 45 runs. R. T. Rokeby was in great batting form for the winners, and put on 27 by good clean hitting. The Newark men could do little with the bowling of A. W. Boulthee and N. S. Walker, jr., until the last wicket, when J. Goldingham hit out in fine style for 22, not out. The score: NEWARK CRICKET CLUB.

The championship series of the New-York Cricket The championship series of the New-York Cricket Association was brought to a close yesterday at Prospect Park, where Team B, of Paterson, played a drawn game with Manhattan H. The draw was much in favor of Manhattan, which would probably much in favor of Manhattan, which would probably have won had it applied the closure rule instead of playing out its innings. J. Rose, with a steady innings of 30, obtained top score of the game, while good work for Manhattan was also done by G. Rose, E. Boidington, H. Rushton and C. H. Tuke, For Paterson, H. Taylor and C. the last contest of the season between the teams of the New-Amsterdam and Nelson Lodge clubs. The game was peculiar because the Nelson Lodge leven lost no lezs than five of their men by being run out. Their poor judgment in running cost them the game, too. New-Amsterdam won by 31 runs. J. Maher and R. Cobbin made a good stand for New-Amsterdam's decided stand for New-Amsterdam's first wicket, the former putting on 23 and the latter 18. After their separation the bowlers had everything their own way and the most any other batsman could obtain was 4.

The New-York Cricket Club brought its season to a close yesterday at Prospect Park, where a draw was the result of its contest with Kings County. The latter put up an unusually good batting game. G. Barnes played in splendid style for 35, not out, and with good contributions from A. Smedley, W. Adam, G. Williams and F. E. Fisher, the total amounted to 100. EDWARDS WINS AT MORRIS COUNTY.

There was a slight misunderstanding on the Morris County links yesterday which ended rather unpleasantly for one of the persons involved. The trouble arose between James A. Edwards and Colonel Bogle, and was maintained for some little time. The Colonel was worsted in the end, though he came in for considerable sympathy owing to the fact that the two were not on even terms, Edwards enjoying a handicap of eleven strokes. The fight was hitter while it lasted, but Edwards won by 5 up. The latter has been improving so rapidly of late that he is likely to cause his opponent considerable trouble in the future, and the result is below a waited with laterals. being awaited with interest by the other members of the club. The affair was an eighteen hole handicap, and though only eight players returned cards all of them made it hot for the Colonel. A. H. STATEN ISLAND PLAYERS DEFEATED.

A team match of thirteen a side took place on the Tuxedo links yesterday between the Tuxedo and Staten Island Cricket Club golf teams, in which the system of scoring used made the result one of the closest of the season. Instead of crediting of the closest of the season. Instead of crediting each man with the number of holes won from his opponent, the victor was allowed to count only one point, and in this way the final result was 7 to 5 in favor of the Tuxedo team.
